Personal & Work Life

Education, enrichment services and professional development opportunities are available through interactive workshops on a wide-range of topics from Time Management to Working with Millennials to Exploring Adoption. If you are new to the area or new to the military lifestyle, you need to explore our Air Force Spouse 101 (Heartlink) - you'll meet/network with other spouses, learn about the local area, military culture and lifestyles as well as get connected to services and resources.

Emergency Family Assistance Center

Upon implementation of the LRAFB Emergency Management Plan &/or by direction of the Installation Commander, the A&FRC will activate and support the EFAC. Once activated, the EFAC is a 24/7 operation that serves as the staging area where families can obtain disaster relief, contingency information and services.

Air Force Wounded Warrior (AFW2)

Air Force Wounded ill & injured Program provides individualized adaptations for Wounded Warriors as needed during transition services. Personalized assistance with all A&FRC services are available.
